

MARN 2103: Marine Conservation and Management

This course will introduce students to marine conservation and governance, and how science can influence management decisions at the national and international levels to maintain marine environmental health.

Credits: 3

Class Hours: 3

Prerequisites:

MARN 1201

Department: Marine Science