

AGRI 2207: Agroforestry

This course provides an overview of the types of agro-forestry/forestry systems, their use, potential and the identification of challenges as well as proposing basic solutions. It introduces the concept of agro forestry, forests and their contribution to environment and climate change mitigation. It also looks at forest/agro-forest products, services, and potential value chains.

Credits: 3

Prerequisites:

2nd Year Standing

Department: Agriculture